The public health services system in Ukraine demands serious reforming. Absence of financial possibilities at the state with economy of transitive type aggravates present situation. The statistics clearly presents the situation in Ukrainian society and medicine.

Ukraine occupies 78th place in the world on life expectancy. The average life expectancy of Ukrainians was found to be 10-20 years lower than at the developed countries.

Annually the population of Ukraine decreases more than on 300 thousand; it is equal to quantity of inhabitants of the regional centre. Hence the big city from a map in the centre of Europe actually disappears annually.

The statistics of oncological disease in Ukraine impresses: for last ten years the quantity of patients has increased on 25 %, the population was reduced to 4 million persons. Oncological diseases stably increase on 3 % a year, and the cancer continues to "look younger".

In Ukraine every year it is diagnosed more than 160 thousand new cases of malignant neoplasm; almost 100 thousand inhabitants die of a cancer. Each hour is registered more than 20 new cases of disease, and 10 inhabitants of Ukraine die of a cancer. By calculations of experts, till 2020 the quantity ill with a cancer in Ukraine will exceed 200 thousand a year.

One of the important strategies on the way of reforms is a continuing training of Ukrainian doctors including pathologists. It is well known that pathology is a core discipline of a modern medicine.
High level of professional education in pathology at least needs access to information, modern text books equipment etc.

Unfortunately, the majority of pathologists in Ukraine with an average salary 100 US dollars per month have no real opportunities to get a modern textbooks, computers and even pay for the Internet line.

A lack of manuals in Oncopathology, Surgical Pathology, Feminine Genital tract Pathology etc. results in additional problems in practical work of pathologists in Ukraine.

There is no funding for Pathologists in Ukraine for attendance of Congresses, Slide seminars in Foreign Countries.

Therefore, the support of the Educational Committee of the Ukrainian Meeting of the IAP in Kharkiv, Ukraine on April, 2011 would be the most helpful for Ukrainian pathology.

We are planning to discuss mainly modern advanced diagnostics (with molecular biology issues) of the main wide-spread neoplasms, including breast cancer, uropathology, hematology, tumors of the intestines, and so on.

We plan to organize a conference and slide-seminars if possible, which will take 2-3 days.
About 25 speakers with a balance between foreign speakers and local ones as one to four hopefully present there papers.

Location:
KHARKIV NATIONAL MEDICAL UNIVERSITY
4 Lenin Avenue Kharkiv, 310022
UKRAINE
http://ksmu.kharkov.ua/lpage/

Organizer: IAP, Ukrainian Division (President: Olga Reshenikova, MD, PhD, Secretary and Treasurer: Iryna Sorokina, M.D., PhD).
100 participants are expected.

Expenses:

Room rental: 300 seats, free of charge.
Lease of multimedia projector, screen and notebook for 2 days- 830 US$
Simultaneous translation: interpreters two for 2 days 980 US$
Equipment: 2020 US$
Handouts: 400 for 3000 US$

Expenses total amount: 6830 US$

Certainly, we will have the additional expenditures connected with accommodation, local transportation for our foreign invited speakers, social program, coffee-breaks, and so on.

Projected incomes:
Registration fees: breaking point 200 maximum
Grants (private companies, Fulbright grant)?
Exhibition: approximately 2000 US$ after educational committee approval (for example, for handouts).

I am looking forward for having a kind decision of the IAP Educational Committee.
